

ScoreCapture for Golf Clubs

ScoreCapture is a South African company started in 2013 and is predominantly focused on live scoring for golf tournaments. Around the world there is a significant move from golf clubs to adopt digital scoring as the preferred scoring option for their members. The advantages are numerous and include the following:

- Reduction of costs of printed scorecards;
- More accurate results that save the Club Pro time, so that prize giving can happen as soon as the last putt is dropped;
- Count outs and prize lists can be generated immediately;
- Over 30 different calculation types, including the handicap allowance across all formats;
- An up to date time sheet that is available to all members of the club online and on the app;
- A member management portal, with easy editing, to keep your members details up to date;
- A communication portal, where the club admin can send out sms and emails to their membership including tee time notifications;
- Multiple ways of getting the scores captured, via the free app (only 1 person needs to score for a 4-ball) or on the web, which includes an pickup button that calculates the correct adjusted gross for the golfer;
- Live leaderboards available on the app and web;
- A link to HNA which updates all members handicap indexes as well as any changes to the course ratings, pars or stroke indexes;
- A league portal that allows easy selection of teams, live scoring on the day of the game and a simple override and verification process, so that the league tables are updated instantly;
- A lifetime of scorecards and leaderboards available online;
- A content management system, where the club can run a playlist of still images, videos and urls keeping their member informed of upcoming events and results of recent tournaments;
- Eclectic leaderboards putting together a best round for all the members over a period of time;
- Averages leaderboards incorporating stroke averages or total points scored for a series of tournaments over a period of time;
- Rankings leaderboards, allocating points from a table depending on where the golfer finished in a series of leaderboards over time;
- Knockouts that can be setup via accepted invites and the draw can be populated with seeded players or pairings, which is available online for the members to update accordingly; and
- All members entered into the free competitions run by ScoreCapture.
